

Program: School of Education and Human Development
Center for Professional Development
Assessed by: Nancy Varian
Date: 2015-2016

Mission Statement: The Mission Statement for the School of Education and Human Development

The mission of the School of Education and Human Development is to develop education and counseling professionals committee to service and advocacy for individuals, community, and the world. Programs provide an intensive knowledge base grounded in a Christian worldview, promote collaborative and reflective practice, and encourage ownership of professional growth.

The Mission Statement for the Center for Professional Development

The Center for Professional Development (CPD) is dedicated to providing high quality, comprehensive, effective professional developmental opportunities that meet the ever-increasing demands of professional educators. We strive to provide participants with cutting edge research based information and technology that addresses the critical issues facing educators in today's world through a Christian worldview to achieve their professional goals.

Program Goals

- Make an impact in the lives of educators and the students they teach
- Provide an environment for educators to engage in professional conversation and build a community of learners
- Acquire new knowledge to enhance the teaching learning process (the idea of application in the classroom)

Program Intended Learning Outcomes

- Apply sound principles of teaching, learning, advocacy and reflection
- Participate in a community of learners and extend that collaboration to students, colleagues, and the community
- Share with class participants new or enhanced knowledge that you will be applying in your practice

Program Intended Learning Outcomes (PILO)	Means of Program Assessment &amp; Criteria for Success	Summary of Data Collected	Use of Results
Apply sound principles of teaching, learning, advocacy and reflection	A goal of 95% of participants would earn a workshop grade of an A End of workshop survey question: To what extent do you feel that the workshop applied sound principles of teaching, learning, advocacy and reflection (1 to 5 scale) Rubric used by instructors to assess one of the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Summative assessments</li> <li>• Class project(s)</li> <li>• Class presentation(s)</li> <li>• Technology project</li> <li>• Art work or art project</li> <li>• Musical composition or assignment</li> <li>• Other to be determined by the instructor</li> </ul>	98% of the participants earned an A in the workshops End of workshop survey question: To what extent do you feel that the workshop applied sound principles of teaching, learning, advocacy and reflection (1 to 5 scale) The mean was approximately 4.4 10% 30% 25% 10% 15% 10% (a combination of the above)	We want to continue to have success and high grades with our adult learners. This information is shared with the instructors so they can alter teaching if needed to meet the goals of the participants. The mean is relatively high due to the high quality of the workshops and the interest of the participants selecting the topics This results are what we believed they would be as they are consistent with the types of classes presented and the assessments that align with the topic/venue
Participate in a community of learners and extend that collaboration to students, colleagues, and the community	A goal of 100% of participants would participate as a community of learners and taking what is gained into their workplace to collaboration with colleagues and community	Follow up by means of leadership success in the school setting	Receive narratives of “best practices” to use for recruitment and data collection

Share with class participants new or enhanced knowledge that you will be applying in your practice	100% of participants will share new or enhanced knowledge as a result of the workshop. This sharing will take place in the classroom	Written evaluations will be completed by the instructor and turned into the CPD office at the conclusion of the workshop	Kept on file for instructors' use and for planning and implementation purposes